THE CAMPBELL PRESS this year is celebrating its diamond jubilee. The Press has been a Campbell institution for 75 years...

That's a long time to have been around any place.

To mark this historic community event, The Press is publishing a special edition which it is hoped, will be the largest in this paper's history.

Indications are that it will be.

This has meant, incidentally, among other things, that it has been necessary to gain an extra week or so as far as the production of the paper is concerned.

We are now aiming for Wednesday, Feb. 26, the last issue of the month.

Unfortunately, the files of the back issues of The Campbell Press are incomplete and there are many blank years, so to speak.

Yet we have dug up enough of the old issues to have had quite a nostalgic time reviewing the "good old days".

One of the problems, of course, has been trying to segregate some of the highlights, then reproduce them for the special edition.

Our plan of attack is to try to present a review of the past of this community, combining it with the present and projecting into the future.

That's quite a chore, as you might guess.

But it is sort of fun.

In a nostalgic way.

THE CAMPBELL PRESS, as most of you know by now, has over the years (and we have the written records to prove it) become more than mere newspaper.

We think it can be classified as a community institution.

We are well aware that most people characterize all newspapers, large, small or indifferent, in the same category.

If it is a newspaper, that is all there is to it. They are all the same. Period.

Newspapers, themselves, have built up this myth by the traditional attitude of trying to be first at all costs...

The word "scoop" is familiar to all.

But we have long maintained that a community newspaper, such as The Campbell Press, should be more concerned with what is beneficial to the entire community than merely getting the news in the paper first.

What happens to this community in the long run is of more vital concern to us than merely publicizing one special event.

Of course that is a selfish attitude to take.

Yet when one has everything at stake in a community because one believes in it, it is difficult not to be selfish. Or had you noticed?

We concede that in this urbanized area it is difficult to hold onto a community's identity.

Yet the Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups are continuously striving to make this community's identity strong and healthy.

AND THAT HAS always been the aim of this 75-year old Campbell institution, The Campbell Press.

Maybe we wouldn't have gone on like this if we hadn't been exposed in recent weeks to the files of past issues which reveal so graphically how this newspaper has really tried to do its job over the years.

And, sincerely, despite the changes that have taken place in this community, we still feel that there is more need than ever for this "institution" in Campbell for the next 75 years.

THREE INJURED---Injuries were suffered by three Saturday afternoon when two cars collided on heavily traveled Hamilton Ave. Hamilton Ave. between Bascom and Winchester is one of the heaviest trafficed streets in Santa Clara Valley. The accident occurred when Ester Ivadell Arnold of 35 Circle Drive, driving the 1966 Buick, attempted to enter Hamilton Ave. from Circle Drive. She was struck by a station wagon driven by Caridad O. Rhoades, 6001 Miwok Drive, San Jose driving east on Hamilton Ave. Mrs. Arnold was cited for failing to yield the right of way. The two drivers suffered minor injuries as did Cynthia A. Rhoades, two year old daughter of Mrs. Rhoades. Photos show back up traffic and the two cars involved in the accident.

Five panels lead third Congress

Five panel discussion groups are scheduled for the third annual Congress for Community Progress which has the theme, "Moving Forward", according to the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, general chairman. Leaders have been "signed" for all panels, he said.

The Congress will be held on Saturday, March 15, at West Valley College. It will open in the morning and will continue throughout the day with a break for lunch.

The annual event is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce with cooperation from the city administration and service clubs.

Bob Stevenson, principal of Rolling Hills School, will head the education group.

Bob Stephens, city manager, will lead the panel on community administration.

Tom Snowden, of Snowden-Pencer Corp. will be in charge of the community economic growth panel and one of the panel members will be Fred Sahadi, developer of "The Prune Yard" and "The Towers", at Campbell and Bascom avenues.

Karl Marshall, director of Eastfield, Home of Benevolence in Campbell, will lead the discussion group on community youth while Mrs. Dorothy Goble, school board member and director of EOC, will head the panel on community urban affairs.

Registration fee for the Congress has been set at $2.50 which includes lunch and coffee break.

Committee members urge those citizens wishing to learn more about the Congress to call the Campbell Chamber of Commerce office, 378-6252.

LENDING A HAND---Father John Lally (left), pastor of St. Lucy's Catholic Church in Campbell assists Father Paul A. Perlite, pastor of the new St. Thomas of Canterbury parish at the groundbreaking for the $289,000 parish center. A large portion of the 18-month old St. Thomas of Canterbury parish formerly was part of St. Lucy's.

New parish breaks ground for new center

Sunlight breaking through the rain clouds on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 2, made the gold shovel glisten at the groundbreaking ceremonies for St. Thomas of Canterbury parish center at 1522 McCoy Ave.

The shovel was used to turn the orchard ground on which the $289,520 center is to be constructed.

The Rev. Paul A. Perlite, pastor of St. Thomas, officiated at the ceremony which included the blessing of the land and parishioners; a prayer to St. Thomas of Canterbury and a short history of the 18-year old parish which includes a large portion of territory which was formerly in St. Lucy's parish.

The climax was the actual groundbreaking in which Father John Lally, pastor of St. Lucy's assisted Father Perlite with the shovel.

Among the 75 parishioners and guests at the ceremony were the Manuel Freitas of the Freitas Construction Co. of San Jose, contractor for the center and Robert Joyce, of Menlo Park, architect.

Sister Christelle, S.H.F., principal of the C.C.D. program of the parish involving approximately 1,000 young-

Out of front yards

Boats may get city controls

Storage of boats, trailers and camper tops in front yards will be prohibited in Campbell, if a proposed new ordinance is adopted by the City Council.

On Monday night the City Council directed City Attorney Joe Bonacina to check out a proposed ordinance that was drafted by Arthur Kee, planning director, at the previous direction of the Council.

The ordinance is scheduled to be presented for first reading at the next meeting, Feb. 24, and, if a majority of the Council approves, will be adopted on March 10.

It will become effective 30 days after adoption.

Most of the councilmen Monday night indicated that they were not pleased to have to force boat and trailer owners to get their equipment out of the front yards.. They felt, however, that some regulation was necessary.

As part of the report sub-

Park issue hits Council Feb. 24

As was expected, no action was taken Monday night by the City Council on the unprecedented appeal by the Parks Commission of the Planning Commission approval of a site plan for a 288-unit apartment complex adjacent to the city-owned park.

The matter will be on the agenda Feb. 24.

The Council plans to act on the matter at the Feb. 24 meeting after City Attorney Joe Bonacina has reported on all the legal aspects of the problem.

In Bonacina's "progress report" on Monday, he indicated that it was not an open and shut legal case by any means but felt that he would be able to make a complete report by Feb. 24.

He also said that he had suggested that the developers, if they desired, should prepare in writing any proposed options they might like to submit before the Council acts on the appeal.

Should the City Council approve the appeal of the Parks and Recreation Commission, most civic leaders maintain that the next step would be to have a bond issue for park land acquisition.

BOND ISSUE

In Oct. 1967, the electorate, by the slim margin of 30 votes, failed to give the necessary two-thirds majority approval of the $850,0 issue that was on the ballot. If the bonds had passed, civic leaders point out, the present issue would not exist.

On Jan. 6, the Planning Commission approved a 288-unit, 4½-story apartment complex on property adjacent to the city-owned Rincon Park and the Campbell Elementary School.

The Parks and Recreation Commission protested the approval by officially appealing it to the Council. Park commissioners were also instrumental in developing a ground swell among the citizenry that culminated in an overflow

West Valley College enrollment reaches 7519 for new semester

A total of 7,519 day and extended day students have registered for the Spring Semester at West Valley College thus far according to Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president.

These figures show a 19% increase over enrollment figures for the Spring Semester last year, Dr. Hall reported.

Also significant, he said, is the fact that 1,956 students are taking all or part of their classes on the new Saratoga campus, also a marked increase over last semester's figures - the first semester that the Saratoga campus was in operation.

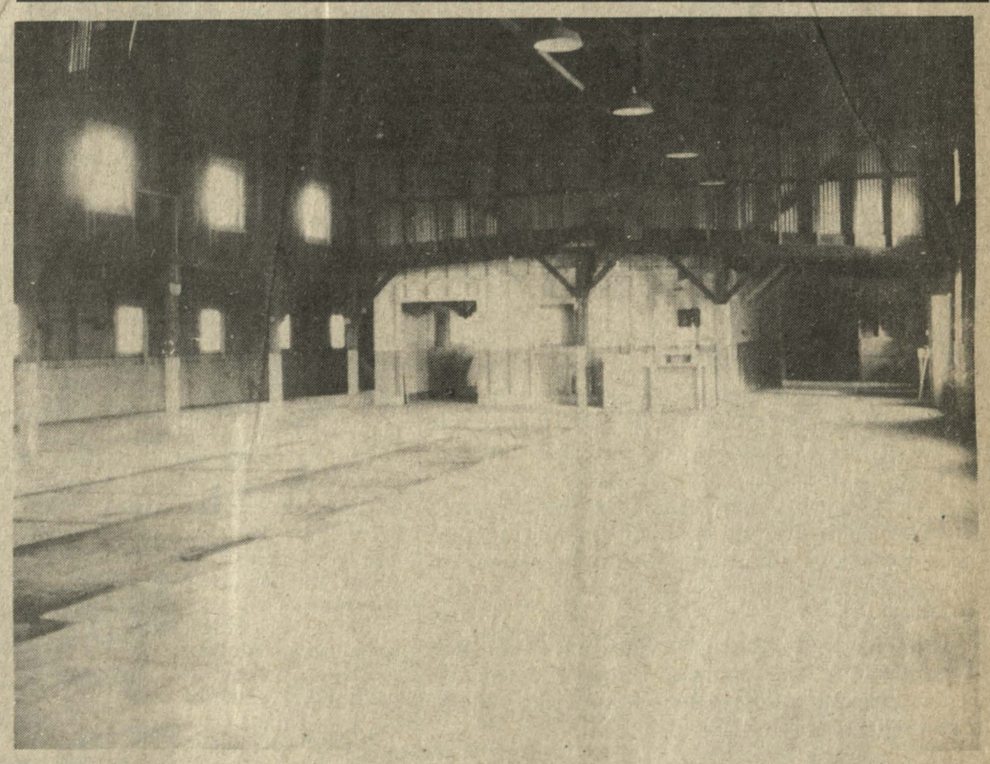
Some late registration is underway still and final figures are not yet available, Dr. Hall indicated.

On Thursday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m. the college board plans to discuss the Phase II program, relating to operation of both the Saratoga and Campbell campuses as an "integral unit" until such time as additional necessary facilities are built.

The Board has also adopted a revised plan for the proposed Language-Arts Building, providing for a slightly tilted roof area on the structure, which would enhance the beauty of the building and make it more in keeping with other structures in operation and being contemplated on the Saratoga site.

It also has adopted a report of its Faculty Relations Committee which provided for additional released time from instructional duties for coordination activities in the Licensed Vocational Nursing, Medical Assisting, Electronics and Drafting programs.

Released time is also presently being granted to the coordinators of the Food Services and Law Enforcement programs. Purpose is to allow these program coordinators to spend more time with advisory boards, meetings with top industry officials, as representatives of the college at area community college meetings, articulation work with the high schools preparing evaluations and other internal administrative functions.



New owner hopes to utilize vast warehouse space

According to the new owner of the three-story former Sunsweet Growers warehouse in "downtown Campbell" and his architect, the solidly-built structure is to have a glamorous future if their present plans are carried out.

Stanley Becker, the owner, and Jack Metzger, his architect, envision converting the building into a sort of combination Ghiradelli Square-Old Town, Los Gatos, operation.

Becker, who is the owner of Becker Foods Co., reports that he has purchased from Sunsweet two buildings that have approximately 85,000 square feet in all floors.

He has named the project, the "Wrinkled Prune Annex" and envisions high quality restaurants and artists utili-

Editorial

Community Progress

The Campbell Press in two weeks plans to publish its annual "Progress Edition", the fourth such issue that has been produced by this newspaper.

However, this year's edition will have a special meaning. It marks the beginning of our 75th year of publication...It is the diamond jubilee of this paper.

In the 75 years that this paper has been the sounding board of the community, there have been many ups and downs.

There have been a number of false starts but many, many advancements.

Very few of the community's institutions that are functioning today were around before the turn of the century when this paper was founded.

The Methodist Church, the Congregational Church, the Country Woman's Club...and then let your voice fall.

The Campbell Press is even older than the Campbell Water Company which was established originally in 1906 and has a tremendous record of expansion in the community.

And, although there are more than a score of churches in the community today, the Methodist and the Congregational Church are still important cogs in the community life.

And the Country Woman's Club continues to effectively serve the community.

We have long claimed that, although progress is important, it is also important to have a strong link with the past.

This community has a heritage of which we all can be proud. For that reason as we look ahead toward what is anticipated to be the greatest era of development in this community's long history, we must not overlook the past.

That is why in the progress edition, we will try to emphasize what lies ahead, what we are doing now and what has been.---

Although a progress edition of this newspaper can emphasize the assets of this community on a past, present and future basis, much more is needed, if our community is to be what we all desire it to be.

The people themselves must be concerned and interested.

On March 15, the third annual Congress for Community Progress is scheduled.

As in the prior two congresses, citizens of the area will have an opportunity to become involved with the problems and the plans of their community.

This year's congress has for its theme "Moving Forward" and panels will lead the discussion groups in five distinct fields that have a bearing on community life.

Community administration, education, economic growth, youth and urban affairs panels not only will have experts "leading the way" but, it is hoped that many just plain John Doe citizens will take part in the discussions so that a cross-section of the community will be involved.

In a community such as this, which has changed into an urbanized area from a rural village in a span of a few years, it has been claimed by some that people no longer care about their local level of government.

They are concerned only about the "big picture". Some are vitally concerned about the national picture and would care less about how their own community functions.

They are worried about how President Nixon will conduct the national government. But are disinterested about how the city council, the school boards, the industries are operating in their own front yards.

We have long maintained that the local problems are of more vital concern to our daily life than what the cabinet does in Washington.

There will be those, of course, who will misread that.

Obviously what the federal and state authorities do will affect us in one way or another.

What we are saying, however, is that on the local level the average citizen can make his own voice heard effectively.

Provided he knows what is going on and the people in charge knows what he wants.

We sincerely believe that the Congress for Community Progress provides a vehicle that can get the reaction and the support from the average citizen.

And we believe that is of tremendous import to all of us.

But any congress for community progress is of value only when the citizens participate in it.

Plan to attend the congress on March 15.

Then you will know what we mean...

sanctuary.

At the last meeting of Citizens for Beautification, Mrs. Ruth Hartman, long active in the Garden Club and vice-chairman of the Beautification Committee, suggested the installation of street signs that read "This Town is a Bird Sanctuary".

It was suggested that Bill Wren, director of public works, and Ken Hickman, supervisor of the department, be contacted as to how this project should be carried out.

We have a hunch that Hickman may be of the opinion that the signs may be unnecessary, if they are for the birds.

It seems that they apparently already know it.

At least on Bland Ave.

FOR SOME UNEXPLAINable reason, Ken Hickman points out, birds by the droves apparently have been holding their conventions in the camphor trees that border Bland Ave., especially during the wet weather.

And they are not very good housekeepers, as the residents of that street will testify.

Ken's street crew has been having a heck of a time cleaning up after 'em.

They have had to bring in the tank wagon and actually scrub down the street.

Those white marks on the pavement, by the way, that remain even after the street had been washed down, are not the natural coloring of black top, Ken points out.

But even with the way the birds have been treating Bland Ave., having the bird sanctuary signs inviting the birds is probably still a good idea.

But maybe another line should be added just for the birds:

"You are welcome but don't be litterbugs".

TRAINS NOW TRAVEL through our area at infrequent intervals.

As a matter of fact, except for the incessant tooting from time to time, and the blocking of Campbell Ave. at the railroad crossing when freight cars are being switched, the average person in these parts is hardly aware that there are such things as trains any more.

And that's a long toot from the days of the past when there was a Campbell railroad station and trains were on regular schedule. (That's what we get for getting engrossed in those past files).

Although rare, there still can be accidents when a car ties a train in a crossing race.

Such an accident occurred just a few weeks ago at the crossing on Pollard Road.

By one of those strange quirks in overlapping boundaries in this mixed area, it took place in a spot that was not clearly defined as to what jurisdiction was involved.

And equipment rolled from all directions.

A rough count showed that there were 18 pieces of equipment at the scene.

Fire Chief George Maxwell of Campbell, one of the first to see that the injured man was taken care of which, of course, was the first order of business.

But it was a little involved and slightly confusing with spectators, police officers and firemen all gathered about doing their thing.

We may have missed a few...

But there were three fire pieces from Campbell, three Campbell police cars, two from Los Gatos fire, four from the county fire department, two Los Gatos police units, one highway patrol unit and two sheriff cars.

And, of course, the ambulance.

And that could be classified in a general way as a rural area.

-0-

DOWN THE ROAD A piece from where that accident took place another jurisdictional battle is waging...if that is the right word.

It seems that the developers of a plush complex resent the Campbell city limit sign that is on the road.

The sign could give the horrible impression that the complex is in Campbell.

And that would never do.

Apparently Campbell's street department is having trouble keeping that sign up.

Take it from there.
No comment.

Boats, trailers

mitted by Kee with the draft or the ordinance was a survey made as to how neighboring cities handled the knotty problem.

Six cities were checked out:

In Los Gatos boats and trailers are not allowed in front yards; Cupertino regulates campers, trailers, mobile homes and inoperable vehicles but not boats.

In Saratoga campers or boats must be screened from view or under cover. They cannot be stored in front yards.

In Santa Clara there is no regulation for campers, trailers and boats. But there is a limitation of 72 hours for parking or storing aircraft, household goods and inoperable vehicles.

In Sunnyvale, the storage of camper bodies, camper units, portable traveling coaches are prohibited in the front yards.

In San Jose the regulation limits to 48 hours the storage of trailers, boats and dismounted pickup campers in the front yard of residential property, although permits can be issued to allow storage to continue.

The City Council began the study of regulating boats and trailers after a group of residents in the Coventry Drive area, in a letter, complained about the growing trend in Campbell to park such units in front yards.

Adoption of the regulatory ordinance will probably not receive a unanimous vote of the City Council, if and when it is adoped.

Councilman Dean Chamberlin on Monday night said he was opposed to the regulations because, in his opinion, it infringed on personal rights of the individual. He also claimed that "good" boats were not unsightly, although he admitted that a problem did exist in many cases.

Councilman Homer Hyde, although agreeing with Chamberlin that "good" boats were not unsightly, wondered who would do the judging of "good" and "bad" boats.

Bonacina will study the proposed ordinance to see if there is any conflict with present city laws.

The proposed ordinance provides for an inventory to be made in town of the boats and trailers which would be non-conforming, according to the new regulations.

Within six months after the inventory, the owners will be notified in writing that they are non-conforming and given a specified time limit to remove the offending boats and trailers.

In another action at the Monday night City Council meeting, the Council did not take any action to amend the house-moving ordinance which would allow George Pounding, of 1167 Bucknam Court, to move a house from San Jose onto the lot next to his house.

The present ordinance specifies that no house more than 10 years old can be moved into the city.

The house in question is 18 years old, but is in excellent condition, Founding pointed out.

To bear out this contention he distributed photographs of the house to the councilmen.

The councilmen were symphathetic but maintained that the line had to be drawn somewhere and they could not modify the ordinance every time a person wanted to bring a house into town.

Becker feels that the warehouse exterior, mostly of corrugated steel, will enhance the quaintness of the structure. His present thinking does not foresee many drastic changes to the outside.

In the accompanying pictures, the top floor of one of the buildings is pictured showing just one portion of the vast expanse of floor space that is available.

In the other picture, Metzger (left) and Becker examine the heavy beams that are used throughout the building.

RAIN DROPS

Rain continued to fall on Campbell during the last week bringing the total for the 1968-69 season to 15.58 inches. The last storm dumped .52 inches of rain. Normal for this time of year is 10.24 inches.

At this same date last year 10.29 inches of rain had been recorded with total for the entire year at 14.51 inches.

Gaslighter Theater plans opening Feb. 14

The Gaslighter Theater, Campbell's newest edition to the entertainment scene, will open Friday night, Feb. 14, for the first time in their new location at 400 E. Campbell Ave.

The old Campbell Theater has been renovated by the active membership of the Gaslighter crew, and those who remember the old building when it was used as a motion picture theater, will hardly recognize the place in its new disguise.

The outside lobby has been scrubbed and scraped and the old marble glistens with plenty of elbow grease. The entire building has been rewired; exit doors cut and panic hardware installed; the balcony has been closed to patrons and the seating arrangement has been changed to allow for shelf space on the back of each seat for the generous supply of free popcorn which adds to the "corny" atmosphere so necessary to the Gaslighter theater productions.

Although the first opening is scheduled for Feb. 14, two other "openings" are also on the calendar. The grand opening will be Feb. 21, and a benefit performance is scheduled for Feb. 28 for the joint Campbell Youth Employment Service and the Campbell Citizens for Beautification.

Scheduled for production is the gripping melodrama of the "Pulse of China Town" or "The Melting Pot Overfloweth", with San Francisco Chinatown as the locale. Don Cupp, and his wife Faye, head the active group which has been producing plays since November 1965 in the South Monterey Road location.

The benefit production will be limited to 150 people on a first come, first serve basis. Tickets are available at the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. Jerry Arca, chairman for the benefit and Mrs. Jeanette Watson, announced that they hoped that those attending the benefit could all make it a point to come in old time costumes.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Watson are planning on driving to the theater in their 1914 Overland, and part of the olio entertainment will consist of the appearance of a number of familiar Campbell faces who will display hidden talents.

A $5 donation is being asked for the benefit performance and will include all the popcorn you can eat, beer to be drank and soft drinks for those who do not care for beer.

crowd at the City Council meeting and the submission of petitions containing 1600 names of people protesting the apartments.

On Monday night two more organizations by letter indicated their opposition to the apartments infringing on the limited open space that remains in town.

Letters from the Orchard City Grange and the California Roadside Council were filed with the clerk. Representatives of both organizations were in the audience.

BALL FIELD SIGNS

In another park action on Monday, the City Council unanimously passed a motion by Councilman Ed Rogers that would prohibit advertising signs painted on the fence of the Pony League ball field at Rincon Park.

Although the city administration had not been officially notified, it was understood that the Pony League people had begun a selling campaign that could put 42 signs on the fence that would cost $75 - $100 each.

The councilmen emphasized that the Pony League had been given the right to use the park but such matters as signs, etc. remained under city control. They felt that advertising signs in a public park would be inappropriate.

FOR THE ELDERLY

In another related matter to apartments, the City Council referred the request of R.E. (Jack) Carnett, a local builder, pertaining to housing for the elderly, to the staff for further information.

Carnett is in the process of getting approval of a 40-unit apartment complex on San Tomas Road near Latimer in which he wants to limit the tenants to 62-years of age and older, under a rent subsidy agreement with the housing authorities.

He also is requesting that the County Housing Authority (and city) with the federal agency waive the provision that specifies that only 25% of a particular unit can receive rent subsidies. He also wants a 15-year lease from the housing authorities.

STREETS

On Monday night the City Council adopted the amendment to the general plan which specifies the traffic circulation plan for the city.

The plan classifies all thoroughfares of the city as either freeway, expressway, major streets or collector streets.

No major changes were noted in the plan except that Harriet Ave. is extended on the south which straightens out San Tomas Aquino Road.

CIVIC CENTER

In another action, the City Council referred to the city attorney the matter of possible condemnation of the last parcel needed for the civic center development and requested the Public Utilities Commission to allow Southern Pacific to participate with Campbell in the cost of improving the railroad crossing on Hamilton.

FEDERAL AID

The Council also enthusiastically agreed to meet with officials of the Federal Neighborhood Development Program on Feb. 18 to see if a workable plan suitable for Campbell could be developed.

POSTPONED

Postponed to March 10 at the request of the applicants were the public hearings on the appeal of the denial by the Planning Commission of a service station at Alamarida and Hamilton for a zone change request for the property at that location.

REZONING

The Council gave first reading to the ordinance that would change the zoning at 159 Union Ave. from R-1 to R-3. The ordinance will probably be adopted on Feb. 24 and the zoning will become effective 30 days later.

SPORTS FANS!

By Al Salciccia

Here's a sports teaser for you... See if you can name the only major sport in which champions are absolutely prevented from defending their title... The answer is horse racing, where in certain big races like the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont Stakes, etc., only horses of a certain age can take part, and the winning horse can't come back the next year because he's one year older... Thus, no horse can run more than one time in those events, and no champion can ever repeat.

Here's an oddity from the world of pro basketball... As you know, the National Basketball Association has for years featured many extra tall players, with many of them up around 6-7, 6-8 and taller -- yet, the man who helped organize the league and was its president for many years, Maurice Podoloff, stood only 5-3!

Wedding Vows Exchanged

MR. AND MRS. CHRIS BACHMANN

St. Lucy's Catholic church was the setting for the recent afternoon wedding when Cathy Ann Colella and Chris Bachmann exchanged their wedding vows. Rev. William T. O'Keeffe officiated.

Cathy chose a fitted bodice gown of satin with reembroidered lace for her wedding. Long tapered sleeves of lace were complimented by a straight line skirt in front, and a portrait neckline. Her cathedral length train was fashioned with deep pleats from the waistline, accented with bands of lace.

The bubble cascade veil of silk illusion was secured by a contour halo crown of lace loops outlined by seed pearls with cut crystal highlights. Her bouquet was centered with a white orchid in a cascade of stephanotis with white streamers and red roses.

Mrs. Terry Orr as matron of honor, and three bridesmaids, Mrs. Mark Colella, Miss Diane Tranzeno and Miss Barbara Hentzell, were all gowned alike in floor length American beauty red chiffon and carried cascades of pink carnations and red roses.

Their bouffant demi-veils were secured with loops of matching rose velvet ribbon.

Cathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Colella of 2301 Price Way. A graduate of Wilcox High School and West Valley College, she is employed as a secretary for Continental Securities.

Mrs. Colella chose a two-piece mint green ensemble with matching accessories accented by a white orchid corsage for her daughters wedding.

Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Bachmann of 785 Union Ave. A graduate of Camden High School, he attended the University of Virginia and San Jose State College. He also has served two years in the U. S. Army stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va. where he served as an electronic instructor. He is presently attending San Jose State.

David Bachmann stood with his brother as best man while Mark Colella, Terry Orr and Steve Ichishita ushered the guests to their seats. Mrs. Bachmann wore a two-piece aqua blue ensemble with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Hope springs eternal in the heart of every American taxpayer that someday, somehow, Congress will revise our tax laws to make them understandable, equitable, and sensible.

On Feb. 18, Chairman Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) will again gavel his tax-writing Ways and Means Committee to order for hearings aimed at such a purpose. I hope he succeeds, but in sixteen years I've seen three such efforts result in volumes of new tax laws which got more complicated instead of simpler and often opened more loopholes than they closed.

This year may be different because of the publicity and resultant strong public opinion on the various facets of tax law which are slated for review. Tax-exempt foundations are to be thoroughly studied to prevent their use as havens for tax dodgers, for self dealing between a foundation and a grantor, as a method of maintaining family control of property, or as a means of engaging in unrelated businesses which yield profit to the foundation.

The whole question of charitable contributions will be considered as will the farm losses by businessmen who aren't bona fide ranchers. Legitimate deductions for moving expenses and the rent of temporary quarters when changing jobs, tax credits for the elderly, and more equitable treatment of capital gains and foreign investments are also subjects which will be thoroughly studied. The committee will be looking for areas where benefits should be extended to deserving taxpayers and for ways and means of catching up with those who are dodging their fair share of taxation.

Middle income taxpayers, so thoroughly discussed in the Presidential campaign, may get some relief as well as unmarried heads of households. Serious consideration may be given to the unrealistic personal exemption of $600.

I shall be plugging to have the new bill include several of my prior legislative proposals. Elderly persons over 65 should be allowed to deduct all their medical expenses as they did before passage of medicare; the Internal Revenue Service should be forced to accept the rule of law in a tax case which is adverse to IRS or appeal it in a timely fashion; and the arbitrary revocation of tax exemption because of political beliefs (as in the case of the Sierra Club) should be prevented. My bill to provide an additional deduction for maintenance of a personal residence in which an elderly person lives should also be in the new law. (In old age earning power is limited and the savings of those who have worked all their lives have been devalued by inflation.) Lastly, I hope my previous proposal for tax incentives to industries who train and employ the hard core unemployed will also be enacted.

We all hope the new law will be an improvement and it may be. But it will take something more than a law to instill equity and fairness into taxation. The time has come when Congress must insist upon protection for the average taxpayer who can't afford the expensive proceedings required to pursue what may be his legitimate interest. One of the basics of American freedom is the sacred right of an individual citizen to be presumed innocent until proven guilty. This basic principle must apply to thie administration of tax laws!

West Valley College to hold extra-sensury preception forum

Reincarnation, extrasensory perception (ESP) and other psychic phenomena will be examined in a "Friday Night Forum on Parapsychology" beginning Friday, March 7 at 8 p.m. in the West Valley College auditorium, and continuing at the same time on the remaining Fridays in March.

The program is sponsored by the West Valley College, Office of Community Services and will present four experts in parapsychology, giving their own particular views. The forum will be conducted as a class and registration is required.

Opening program will feature Dr. Frederick C. Dommeyer, a member of the Parapsychology Group of California, Inc. He is a professor of philosophy at San Jose State College and has participated in numerous seminars and symposia on parapsychology.

On March 14, speaker will be Dr. Charles T. Tart, assistant professor of psychology, University of California, Davis. He is a member of the American Psychological Association, the American Society of Clinical Hypnosis, the Parapsychological Association and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He has also served as instructor in psychiatry in the School of Medicine, University of Virginia.

Dr. Gina Cerminara, who has a Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in General Semantics and Parapsychology, is the March 21 speaker. She is described as a "charming and gifted lecturer who enlivens serious topics with humor". She has lectured in most major American cities and in Tokyo, Dublin and London. She is the author of "Many Mansions", now in its 14th printing.

Final speaker is Russ Burgess, world-renowned for his exciting lecture-demonstrations in extrasensory perception, on March 28, 1969. He reads the unspoken thoughts of the audience and answers with "an uncanny knowledge that defies belief". His program will feature "audience participation".

Homeowners should call assessor to get $70 tax refund form

Home and duplex owners who have not received a County form on which to claim the $70 tax refund should call the County Assessor's Office at 286-7850.

To be eligible the owner must have owned and lived in the building on March 1, 1968. The Assessor's Office stressed that both requirements--ownership and residence--must be met if a person is to receive the refund which was approved by the voters as Proposition 1-A in November.

Persons who owned and lived in a concominium apartment on March 1, 1968 are entitled to the refund if they meet both the ownership and residence requirement, the Assessor's Office said.

However, owners of cooperative apartments are not entitled to the refund under the state law.

Also not eligible are veterans who receive the veteran's tax exemption.

The Assessor's Office has mailed the application forms for the refund to approximately 200,000 home, duplex and condominium owner-residents within the past week.

County officials said that anyone who feels he or she is entitled to the refund and has not received the form should call the special telephone number--286-7850--on Friday or later.

Specially trained operators are available to handle the expected rush of calls. Forms will be mailed by the operators to callers who appear to meet the ownership-residence rule.

The forms must be returned to the Assessor's Office, Exemption Division, 200 W. Hedding St., by April 15.

As the forms are returned to the County the claims will be checked by the staff and the information forwarded to the state for preparation of the refund checks by mid-June.

As part of the County's checking of the forms computers will determine if any owner is claiming the refund for more than one property. All claims beyond the first one will be rejected.

Forms for the 1969 homeowners' $750 exemption will be mailed in March. These are yellow in color to prevent confusion with the 1968 refund claims. The same rules on ownership and eligibility apply for the 1969 form as for the 1968 form.

Girl Scouts

BY NAN WARREN

Learning "how to –" is the first important step in doing anything well. For Girl Scouts preparing for Spring outdoor camping, the "how to's" are vital, therefore, most Junior Scout troops begin on familiar ground.

During regular troop meetings, the girls learn to plan balanced menus, do their own shopping, plan kapers and list what they must take in the way of needed gear. When the final plans are made and the date for the over-night arrives – excitement mounts!

Twenty-five Junior Scouts, Troop 178 Hazelwood School, bubbled with that excitement as they left for their overnight at the Carmen Jones Scout House in Sunnyvale. For twelve 4th graders, this was their first experience being away from home over night with a Junior Troop.

The girls planned a simulated campfire during the evening complete with songs, skits and popcorn.

After a night of limited sleep, the girls went to work in patrols; preparing breakfast, packing sack lunches and cleaning up. They hiked to Washington Park for lunch and a Scouts Own entitled - "The Creation", prepared by some of the girls. This was a rewarding experience for the entire troop, their leaders: Mrs. Alfonso Romero and Mrs. L. A. Weidman and the generous mothers who accompanied the girls, Mrs. John Almada and Mrs. Gene Failing.

Spending the time to learn "how to –" now, will make out-of-doors camping a snap for Troop 178 this Spring.

Campbell Corners

By Barbara Handel

The Campbell Varsity basketball team met defeat again last Friday against Camden. Senior player Jeff Taku was injured during the game and had to have stitches over his eye during the first quarter but had the strength to go back out during the second half. Next week we play Del Mar and Los Gatos. Both games are away games.

This Saturday night is the Block C/Block P sponsored Valentines dance to be held in the Campbell girls gym from 8-11 p.m. The band playing will be "The Chosen Few". This is the first dance to be held on Saturday night. All students from Prospect and Campbell are encouraged to come to make the dance a big success.

The band chosen to play at the Senior Ball will be the "Unanamous Decision". Anyone wishing to make a request song for the evening may do so in the government rooms or in Mrs. Parker's office.

Bids for the Senior Ball may be reserved during this week during the lunch hours. A deposit of $2 is required at the time the reservation is made.

A Communication Workshop has been set up by the deans and Mr. Culp to better the understandings between the administration and the students. The first meeting was held last Thursday after school. The first 20 students who came were invited to stay.

Every meeting 20 new students are asked to come if they are interested. At the meeting questions are asked by the students and resolutions are tried to be made. The more students that get involved the better the workshop will be. In this way the deans and Mr. Culp can hear more of what the students want.

Reminder: Anyone who is still interested in suggesting a name for the Boosters Club may do so no later than this Friday in Room 35.

The Pops Concert held last Friday and Saturday was a big success. Performing were the Flag Girls, Pirettes, band and the Saurkrout Five. The theme was "Up, Up and Away". Both nights brought a big attendance.

Prospect Pulse

By Pat Hebard

All girls who are interested in trying out for cheerleader or song girl for next year are reminded that their applications are due. All girls who apply must be active members of Pep Club and must have a "C+" average.

There is a new addition to Prospect spirit. A group of spirited boys led by Brian Booth now help lead cheers at our basketball games. This adds extra support for the team.

There will be a dance this Saturday evening jointly with Campbell at Campbell. All Prospect students are invited. The price is $1 with a student body card and $1.50 without one. Those students without a student body card must sign-up this week before the dance. The "Chosen Few" will provide the music.

Because Wednesday was a holiday this week, school has been rather quiet. Report cards were sent home last weekend.

State qualifications for speech and debaters will be March 1. Students can be seen practicing diligently after school in Room 21. Miss Lee Cunningham is the speech coach.

The Panther hoopman lost again to the Los Gatos Wildcats last Friday evening on the Prospect courts. Dave Knutson was the high scorer for the Panthers. They also met defeat to the Del Mar Dons the Tuesday before.

Camden Chatter

By Diane Carman

Congratulations are in order for the top five runners on the Cougars' WVAL freshman championship team. It's now official – Camden High School's Freshman cross-country team is the nation's best.

A national postal meet was held at Foothill College Nov. 9 in which the freshmen competed against many northern California freshman teams. In this meet the Camden freshman team's top five times for a two mile course were taken and combined for a time of 54.45.4. The top five individuals were Mike Carris, Everett Merrel, Bob Benson, Phil Clausen and Terry Smith.

Holding the A.S.B. president's gavel for the spring semester will be Lou Franson. Robin Hirano will be the back-up man, with the newly elected council members being Dick Bebb, Sandy Bignell, Roberta Gray and Joe Gutierez. These results came Jan. 31, following an all school election.

Senior officers will be headed by Bill Vogel; V-P is Gayle Moser and secretary Kathy Galvin.

Vicky Prime will take the post as junior president; V-P will be Alan Parker; Kay Grano will take minutes. The money will be watched by Jim Johnson and sergeant at arms is David Mezzetta.

Mike Gutierez will lead the sophomores as president with Yolanda Lucero as V-P. Secretary is Todd Zimmerman, Mike Abbey is treasurer and sergeant at arms is Arlene Spichtig.

Dan Durbin has been re-elected as freshman president, Becky Byron will take over as V-P and Patty Ayers will be secretary. Sue Yocum will keep the money matters and Heidi Heath will keep the peace.

Camden's annual Pancake Breakfast will be held in our cafeteria on Sunday, Feb. 16, 1969. The doors will be open to the public from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The breakfast will consist of pancakes, bacon, eggs and coffee or milk, all for the price of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12. The tickets for this event may be purchased from any member of G.A.A. or Varsity Letterman's Club. Ticket sales run from Jan. 16 through Feb. 16 and may be purchased at the door.

All profit from this breakfast will go to the future activities of the two clubs.

Del Mar Dateline

By Molly Ford and Janice Hallyburton

Del Mar Dons smashed Saratoga last Friday night, 65-61. High scorer was Bruce Posey, Del Mar junior, with 32 points. After the game, "The Extravaganza" got underway in the cafeteria. Sponsored by Del Mar's Young Life, it featured rock, folk and calypso with Milt Williams.

Banana splits, sundaes, ice cream cones and soft drinks were sold. Everyone was invited and over 300 people attended.

Julie Kawakami, sophomore, has replaced Mary Mokres as one of Del Mar's song girls. Mary just recently moved. Julie put in many extra hours of practice to learn all the routines. She danced with the other song girls for the first time Friday night.

Sue Foster, junior, was voted Wrestling Queen last month. She reigned over the Wrestling Invitational that was held at Del Mar at the ened held at Del Mar at the end of January.

Bids will go on sale Feb. 24 for the Senior Ball that will be held March 7 at the Los Altos Country Club. Plans for the After Ball Dance are under way.

Students plan European tour this summer

The dream of a trip to Europe will become a reality for 160 students from the Campbell Union High School District on July 17.

Leaving from Oakland airport on World Airways, the group, together with their counselors and teachers, will fly directly to Madrid, Spain. They will tour Spain, Italy, France and England for six weeks, returning Aug. 27. Academic credits will be given for the tour, which is conducted under the principalship of Laurance J. Hill, District Superintendent for the district and the Foreign Study League.

At a recent orientation meeting with parents and leaders, passports, shots, pictures and clothes were discussed, at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Buck, one of the counselors who will be in charge in one of the groups.

Slides of Italy were shown by Mrs. LaWayne Sommers. All areas of interest will be covered by the tour, which is termed a "comparative cultures" and no special emphasis will be made. Anyone interested in joining this exciting tour may obtain further information by calling Hill or any of the Campbell District High School principals.

WILL TOUR EUROPE---The young adults pictured above will be touring Europe this summer as part of the Foreign Study League's cultural tour program. Mrs. Evelyn Buck, standing, rear, will act as the counselor for this particular group, which met recently in her home with several parents to discuss the different aspects of the tour. Pictured are, l. to r., seated back row, J. Romano and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Silva. In the middle row are, l. to r., Joan Romano, Pam Fallo, Shayne Silva and Teri Ekstrom. Front row: l. to r., Bob Hardy, Jeff Solar, John Fischer and Barbara Perez. Also in the group, not pictured, are Gwen and Gayle Bowen and Judy Brower.

The length of time a person can spend in cold water is limited to the loss of body heat.

CAMPBELL HIGH

The annual Honorary Life and Founders Day program will be observed Feb. 19 by the Campbell High School PTA at 7:30 p.m. in the Campbell High School Cafetorium.

All interested Campbell residents as well as PTA members, are invited to attend the meeting at which an outstanding Campbell citizen will be honored for his contributions to the city, and be presented an Honorary Life Membership in the PTA. The person so honored is revealed at the meeting and his identity kept secret until the announcement is made.

Mrs. Robert Ross is chairman for the evening with Robert Culp, Campbell High School principal. The meeting will be conducted by Robert Ross, president. The Founders Day program is regarded as an excellent "show-case" to give the general public a clear understanding of the philosophy of the parent-teacher movement and make known the history and traditions of the National Congress of the PTA.

Special refreshments will be served starting at 7:15 p.m. followed by a brief business meeting before the award is made. Mrs. Patricia Hobbs will speak on the mentally retarded children in the community and the role the child plays in the community future.

Music will be provided throughout the evening by the school orchestra.

Carol Barthlomew asked the members to wear old fashioned clothes to the Early Settlers Luncheon which will be held on Feb. 22 in the Grange Hall. It was decided that Orchard City Grange would get behind the proposed baseball park on Rincon Ave. in Campbell.

State Deputy Master John Buck announced that a Conference would be held on March 15, at which time the State Master, State Lecturer, State Youth and Membership chairmen would be present.

PG&E warns about hazards in ski country

Skiers, sled and snow buggy enthusiasts have been alerted to hazards in the unusually deep snow of mountain areas where there are high voltage electric power lines.

Snow in many mountain ski areas is so high that some high voltage lines are nearly touching it and in some cases may be partially buried by snow, according to Howard P. Braun, PG&E vice-president, electric operations. New storms could raise the snow level and increase the peril this weekend, he said.

"It could be fatal for a skier, sled or snow buggy operator to come into contact with a line. A safe distance is not less than ten feet from the tip of the skis or swinging ski poles", Braun said.

Snow buggy drivers should pay special heed to this alert because their recreation areas are not clearly defined, Braun said. "They should know the area of operation and stay within it, and above all keep away from power lines. Skiers should use only supervised ski runs."

Braun said the company's measurements of precipitation, including snow, at 18 of its mountain precipitation monitoring stations show that most areas have received 85 per cent more than normal precipitation and some as much as 153 per cent above normal. This means that snow depths at high elevations may be as much as four times as great as the depth of snow last year.

As I View It

BY JOHN W. GILBAUGH

Taxpayers are finding themselves mired in the swamps of despair. And for good reason. With so many government bureaucrats committed to the philosophy that simple problems have only complex answers, hope for tax relief does not appear in the offing. To spend tax receipts in deliberate pursuit of complex answers for simple problems is to fleece the taxpayer for wool to pull over the eyes of the general public. Tax shears for the fleecing are sharpened by the creation of several blue-ribbon, white-wash committees to which so-called distinguished citizens are appointed.

Prime subjects for scrutiny of such committees include the most sensitive areas of contemporary society, such as racism, crime, and various facets of education. And, with the same certainty that we know night follows day, we can predict the committees will tell us the problems they have studied are so complex that simple answers cannot be found. But, expenditure of large sums of money on new programs appear to be the only solution.

There is one difficulty with these single-track thinkers appointed to blue-ribbon panels. They begin their deliberations with the conclusion that poverty causes nearly all crime and that discrimination provokes nearly all racial violence. Why do so many, whom we trust with the guardianship of public funds, ignore the evidence that crime has increased as poverty has decreased? And, that racial violence has been greatest where discrimination has been least?

Higher education has led the parade in blossoming with experimental programs designed to cure the nation's social ills. Most of these programs, which cost billions of dollars, after failure, have been neatly wrapped and tied in sophisticated rhetoric, and deposited on the academic scrap heap. As a consequence, in nearly every state where education costs are spiraling, the quality of instruction is eroding. Instead of restoring peace and tranquility to college and university campuses, taxpayers dollars are being used to fan the flames of violence. No wonder our overpermissive campuses have become rendevous for agitators, arsonists, burglars, degenerates, rapists and pot-pushers.

One explosive area in which eruptions are already convulsing is the enforced special privileges for Blacks. Instead of demanding equality of opportunity, leaders of militant Negro pressure groups are insisting on, and obtaining legislation which assures special privileges for their members.

While most Whites, who empathize with the Negro plight, subscribe to the principle that Blacks, like other Americans, are entitled to equality under the law and equality of opportunity, they also believe that they, like other Americans, are entitled to nothing more. And, that if Blacks are obstructed by external restraints, society should remove such obstructions. If they are held down by their own individual limitations, they should conquer them. And, if this is individually beyond their power, like other individuals of any other ethnic or racial group, they should learn to live with their own limitation.

By enforced special privilege, many unqualified Negros across the nation have been admitted to college and university programs which require higher admittance standards for Whites than for Blacks. And, after being admitted they are often permitted to continue on in such programs at academic levels lower than those required for other students; levels of performance by which white students are normally disqualified.

Ironically, many of the militant Blacks who fail to meet admission and academic standards required of other students, frequently disrupt the instructional programs of all other students of an entire college or university by making demands, which they attempt to enforce by militant confrontation, or by seizing and forcibly occupying campus buildings. And, in some instances, holding hostage members of the college administration or faculty.

The insistent pressure by militant Negros, to which school officials are yielding, can lead to similar demands by other ethnic and racial groups. And why not? If such programs, financed by the taxpayer, are provided for Blacks, on what basis can they be refused for Mexican Americans, Irish, Japanese, Chinese, Italians, French, Russians, Jews, or any other ethnic or racial group?

Currently, in some of California's state colleges, teaching positions are being allocated to departments for the employment of Blacks or Mexican Americans only. In most instances, if qualified Blacks are not available, positions remain unfilled, though qualified white applicants may have applied. The same is true for employment of student assistants, graduate assistants and teaching assistants.

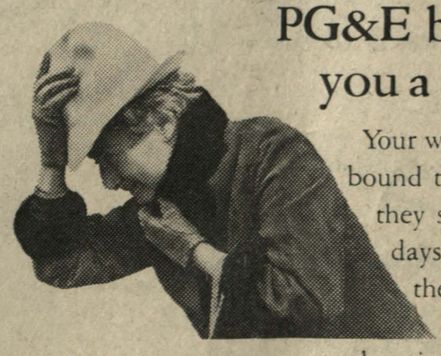
Let's face it: this winter hasn't been so hot.

That's why your PG&E bill may leave you a little cold.



Your winter PG&E bills are bound to be bigger because they stand for more: More days and nights with the thermostat turned up. More lights (and burning longer). More hot meals. More TV watching and stereo. More of just about all the wintertime comforts of home. But remember, spring is just around the corner. So your bill will be on its way back down. That should make you feel warm all over.
